H. H. Rogers Got Information
Through Montana Woman and Put Heinze Out of Business.

New York, Oct. 22.—The clearing house committee asserts that the Heinze, Morse and Thomas interests have been eliminated from the banking organizations of New York City and in the light of this fact the clearing house association announced its readiness to lend all necessary aid to any of the banks which have been under suspicion. The clearing house investigation has established their solvency. It is believed that this action will prevent any crisis in New York banking circles.

It is understood that the Mercantile National bank, Heinze's concern, will undergo a process of slow liquidation. Human interest and romance were added to the spectacular copper crash of last week when it was said that a young woman was unwittingly responsible for all the trouble. This young woman, whose name is withheld, came here from Butte, Mont., some years ago, and has had a large acquaintance among the Montana mining men, who have made the Waldorf Astoria their headquarters.

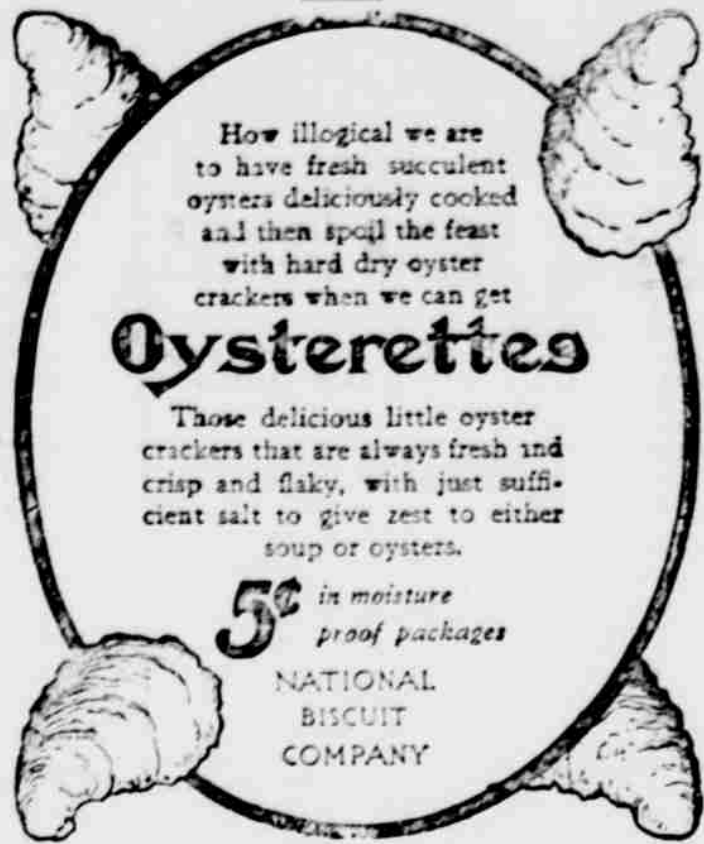

The fact that this woman could not keep a Wall street secret, it is said, was the cause of the wreck of United Copper, and the consequent failure of Gross & Kleeberg, the suspension of Otto Heinze & Co., the resignation of President F. Augustus Heinze and seventeen directors of the Mercantile National bank, and all the ills that have come upon that well known financial institution.

For a long time F. Augustus Heinze has known this young woman, who, it is said, lives near the Waldorf Astoria on Thirty-third street, and he has seen much of her. It is reported that he valued her friendship so highly that he talked freely in her presence of the corner of United Copper which was being organized by the Heinze and Montana interests.

Many months were required to bring together all the elements that figured in the formation of the pool. Finally it was perfected under a "gentlemen's agreement," and it soon began to buy up all the United Copper that could be found loose in the market. This, with the amount that the members of the pool turned in, made far more than a majority of the stock. Had all the "gentlemen" in the pool kept the "gentlemen's agreement," there would have been no trouble—even in the face of the leakage of the secrets of the corner.

But the young woman did not realize as well as these men in the pool that it was necessary to say nothing about the transaction. She, too, had friends—two other young women in particular. In time she began to talk to them about the pool, and, as none of them knew the value of the information, they discussed these important business secrets openly.

A Wall street detective agency learned of the knowledge of the great corner that the three women possessed. The members of this firm, knowing much about the cotton market, realized that such information would be of great value to the Amalgamated

THE NATIONAL CONFERENCE ON TRUSTS AND COMBINES

Ardmoreite Special.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—What gives prominence to the most important conference on the subject of trusts and combinations of capital and labor ever held in any country was inaugurated here today under the auspices of the National Civic Federation. The opening session was devoted to consideration of problems involved in the controversy between the federal and state governments respecting jurisdiction over interstate commerce now pending in several western and southern states. Representatives appointed by the governors of forty-two states and territories, from Maine to California, are in attendance. Nearly all national labor, agricultural, commercial, financial and trade organizations and many chambers of commerce, bar associations and shippers' organizations have also sent delegates. Herbert Knox Smith, commissioner of corporations, Commissioner E. E. Clark of the interstate commerce commission, and other representatives of the government are in attendance and will present the case of the federal regulation of railroads and corporations. As bespeaking the widespread interest in the problems presented by the trusts and the necessity for their regulation, the delegates represent every walk of life and include labor leaders, United States senators, congressmen, farmers, manufacturers, merchants, clergymen, attorneys, educators and bankers.

Being held at a time when the entire country is aroused in regard to the control of trusts and the many problems arising from the enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust law and the amended interstate commerce act, the conference is likely to have a notable and far-reaching effect in giving direction to public sentiment. Tomorrow the delegates to the conference will devote to a consideration of the corporation problem embraced in the following questions: How should a corporation be constructed? Should there be national corporations, as well as state? What should be the basis of capitalization of corporations? The methods of their internal control? What provisions should be made looking to the protection of investors and stockholders? Should there be a distinction between public service and other corporations? Should quasi public utilities, like gas, electric lighting and street railways be considered natural monopolies, to be regulated by the municipal government?

Thursday's and Friday's sessions will be given up to a discussion of various phases of the general topic, including the just and practicable limit of restriction and regulation, both federal and state, of combinations in production, distribution, transportation and labor, and the question: Shall the Sherman anti-trust law be amended, and if so, in what manner? Tariff and free trade in relation to trusts will likely furnish a spirited debate. The relation of labor unions and farmers' organizations to trusts will be considered at length from all standpoints. The alleged covert attempt to muzzle the freedom of the press by raising the price of white paper to a point where profitable publication of newspapers will soon be rendered impossible will be discussed by officials and members of the American Newspaper Publishers' association. President J. A. Everett of the American Society of Equity, is on the program for an address on the bearing of trusts on the production and sale of farm products.

New York, the home of nearly all the great trusts of the country, is represented by an especially distinguished delegation, which has established headquarters at the Auditorium Annex. Among the metropolitan representatives are ex-Mayor Seth Low, Dr. Albert Shaw, editor of the American Review of Reviews; Herman Ridder, manager of the Staatszeitung; Professor J. W. Jenks of Cornell; the Rev. Thomas R. Slicer, Isaac N. Seligman, Hamilton Holt, James B. Reynolds, W. J. Schieffelin, representing the chamber of commerce, and Marcus M. Marks of the cancellation committee of the American Civic federation.

Among those who have prominently identified themselves with the conference and whose labors were largely instrumental in bringing it about are President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University, who acted as chairman of the committee of arrangements; Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor; N. J. Bachelder of the National Gauge; Andrew Carnegie, August Belmont, Archbishop Ireland, Clarence H. McKay, John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers, Grand Master P. H. Morrissey of the Railroad Trainmen; Grand Chief W. S. Stone of the Locomotive Engineers; President Judson of the University of Chicago; Charles G. Dawes, ex-comptroller of currency, and David R. Forgan, president of the Merchants Association of Chicago.

It is likely that the subject of the $29,240.00 fine imposed by Judge Landis on the Standard Oil company will become a subject for discussion at future sessions of the conference.

SIXTIETH SESSION

CONGRESS WILL CONVENE WITH IN NEXT SIX WEEKS.

MANY NEW FACES SEEN

Alabama Was Two New Members of Upper Body—National Guard
Will Figure in Body's Work.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22.—When in six weeks congress will convene for its regular term and the legislative wheels of the government will be again set in motion after a nine months' intermission. There will be many new faces in the new congress, as in the case every two years, owing to political changes, deaths and voluntary retirements. For instance, Alabama will be represented in the senate by two new men, her senators in the last congress, Messrs. Morgan and Pettus, having died during the past summer. The president is ready for the assembling of congress, having completed his annual message to that body some time since. Indications point to a busy session. Aside from the annual appropriation bills which always occasion considerable debate of a political character, intended for "home consumption," subjects touching our foreign policies as well as home topics, will engage the attention of our law makers for some months during the next year. The coming session is the biennial long session and can extend up to the beginning of the next short session which meets in December 1908. The fact that the political conventions of the two parties will meet next summer for the purpose of putting forward their candidates for the presidential race will cause the shortening of the session somewhat.

President Roosevelt's message to congress will form the basis of considerable legislation. From the tenor of his recent speeches it is surmised that he will recommend the close surveillance of corporations doing an interstate business. There are many who incline to the idea that a national incorporation act is the ultimate idea of the president, but whether his recommendation will take this shape is of course problematical. It is highly probable that legislation looking to the solution of the railroad problems that have evolved during the past few months will be sought by the president. Other important questions to come up will be the increase of the strength of the navy, and the Panama Canal.

Questions affecting the army and navy will also arise in the next congress. An effort will be made to secure the passage of a "graded pay" bill for the army, navy, marine corps and revenue cutter service. A bill has been drafted and will be actively pushed. The transfer of the artillery corps of the army to the naval establishment has been recommended.

Little Ills of Children

Mothers and all others who have children about the house cannot do their families a better service than to learn of children's ailments. Many grown people are suffering today for the ignorance or negligence of those who had charge of their bringing up. Children are prone to constipation, and if it isn't corrected early, the bowels get in the habit of not working normally and soon chronic constipation results that may last off and on all through life. Then children eat almost continually and as a consequence indigestion sets in soon followed by worms, or stomach pains, or diarrhea, or any one of these other troubles. To say that it will right itself is putting altogether too much faith in chance. It is trying with the child's present and future health.

A better way is to give the child a dose of something intended to cure that very trouble, and nothing better for the purpose is known than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It never gripe a child as gently and as it has a pleasant taste the child will not refuse to take it. Buy a 50-cent bottle of this drug and save the child from sickness. You should remember that child whose stomach is in good working order is sure to eat and sleep better and be free from all kinds of ailments and fever diseases. Mrs. Curry, of Tremont, Ill., attributes the remarkable health of her child to Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which she gives regularly in these her five-year-old boy is entirely free from all ailments. Try it in your own family and see if you cannot share these opinions. Every bottle is guaranteed to do exactly as we claim, and the purity of ingredients is also vouched for.

at the instance of Secretary Taft and this change will be considered. The national guard, which is more and more being recognized as a strong arm of defense of the country, will also come prominently before congress this winter. A few years ago the guard was looked upon as an organization of "tin soldiers," whose sole claim to credit was their fine appearance in dress parade and drill. With the passage by congress five years ago of the Dick Milla Bill, which placed the national guard under the war department and appropriated money for its encouragement and advancement to an efficient military basis, this sentiment has changed and the guard is now regarded as an ally of the United States army, capable of responding to a call to arms and participating in actual warfare alongside the regulars. The Dick law specified that the national guard should conform to the organization of the regular army within five years. This period expires on January first next. The last annual report of the adjutant general of the army showed that a considerable portion of the national guard organizations do not conform to the regular establishment as required by the law. This is due in some cases to the disinclination of militia officers to adopt the army organization in the matter of formation of regiments to the failure of the state legislatures to put the guard on a proper footing and to the lack of recruits in scattered communities to master the proper militia strength. Since the spring inspection by army officers seven companies of the Georgia militia have disbanded on account of failure to comply with the law, and in Tennessee two regiments have combined in order to conform. Congress will be asked to extend the time of formation two years from January 1st next, and also increase the appropriation to the guard from two to five million dollars annually, which will in all probability be done. Another question affecting the national guard which will come before congress is the recommendation of General Murray chief of artillery, that there be employed on the defenses of the southeast states a certain portion of that arm of the organized militia. This is made necessary by reason of the lack of a sufficient coast artillery force to man those defenses. It is also understood that a bill will be brought forward to put the naval militia on the same basis with the navy department as the national guard holds with the war department.

S.S.S. FORTY YEARS OF CURES

Long experience and thorough testing have proven S. S. S. to be the King of blood purifiers and the greatest of all tonics. For nearly half a century S. S. S. has been used in the treatment of blood and skin diseases of every character, and so satisfactory have been the results that it is now the best known and most widely used blood medicine on the market. S. S. S. attracted attention as soon as it was placed on the market by curing promptly those diseases for which it was recommended, and we have jealously guarded its first good reputation, by keeping it up to its standard in manufacture. That it now has the unqualified and pleasing record of "Forty Years of Cures." For Eczema, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Malaria, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison, and all other diseases due to an impure or poisoned condition of the blood, there is nothing that equals S. S. S. It contracts and removes the germs, cleanses the system of all unhealthy matter, cures the trouble permanently, and restores strong, robust health. Where the blood is weak, S. S. S. is unable to nourish the system as it should. S. S. S. supplies with the needed properties, and being a hygienic, invigorating tonic, it builds up the entire system. It goes to the very bottom of all blood diseases, and in this way reaches deep-seated and inherited cases on which the ordinary cathartics and tonics have little or no effect. Not only is S. S. S. certain in its results, but it is an absolutely safe medicine. It enjoys the distinction of being the only blood medicine on the market that is guaranteed purely vegetable. If you are in need of a blood remedy begin the use of S. S. S., the medicine that has proven its worth by its record of forty years of cures. Book on the blood and any medical advice you wish. No charge for either.
